

DATA PROTECTION PRACTICAL APPLICATION (GUERNSEY) UNIT - SYLLABUS

Element 1 – Introduction to the Data Protection Culture	3
1.1 - Global Shift in Culture.....	3
1.2 - Changing Guernsey’s Data Protection Culture	3
1.3 - Data Protection in Businesses & Organisations.....	3
1.4 – Data Protection & Retention Policies	3
Element 2 – Identification & Usage of Personal Data.....	4
2.1 - Defining Personal Data and Special Category Data	4
2.2 - Identifying where Personal Data is stored.....	4
2.3 – Ascertaining what Personal Data is used for	4
2.4 - Maintaining & Accessing Personal Data	4
2.5 - Performing a Data Audit	4
2.6 - Performing a Privacy Impact Assessment.....	5
2.7 - High Risk Situations	5
2.8 - Misuse of Data	5
2.9 - Finding a Balance – Know Your Client vs Knowing Too Much	5
Element 3 – Implementing Affirmative Consent	6
3.1 - Affirmative Consent vs Passive Consent.....	6
3.2 – Changes to Forms – physical and online.....	6
3.3 – Consent for Given Purposes.....	6
3.4 – Consent for Minors	6
3.5 – Terms and Conditions; Privacy Policy	6
Element 4 – Ensuring the Rights of the Data Subject	7
4.1 - Dealing with Subject Access Requests.....	7
4.2 - Dealing with Data Portability.....	7
4.3 - Dealing with Incorrect Data	7
4.4 - Right to Erasure – A Limited Right.....	7
4.5 - Rights Restricting Processing & Automated Decision Making.....	7
4.6 - Right to Object.....	7
4.7 - Restrictions to Rights.....	7
Element 5 – Dealing with Data Protection Breaches.....	8
5.1 – Identification of a Breach.....	8
5.2 – Internal Breach Processes.....	8
5.3 - Reporting to Regulator	8
5.4 - Reporting to Data Subjects.....	8
5.5 - Dealing with the Media	8

Element 6 – Role of the Data Protection Officer (DPO).....	10
6.1 – Is a Data Protection Officer Necessary	10
6.2 – The “de facto” Data Protection Officer.....	10
6.2 – The “de facto” Data Protection Officer.....	10
6.3 - The DPO – Independent and Unconflicted	10
6.4 - Duties of the DPO	10
Element 7 – Interfacing with Data Protection Regulators	11
7.1 – Office of the Data Protection Commissioner (DPC)	11
7.2 – Organisation & DPC – The Working Relationship	11

ELEMENT 1 – INTRODUCTION TO THE DATA PROTECTION CULTURE

1.1 – GLOBAL SHIFT IN CULTURE

The candidate should:

- 1.1.1 understand why the requirements for data protection have changed over time
- 1.1.2 understand that changes to data protection reach further than Europe
- 1.1.3 understand equivalency of data protection regimes
- 1.1.4 know what routes may be used to pass data to processors in non-equivalent jurisdictions

1.2 – CHANGING GUERNSEY'S DATA PROTECTION CULTURE

The candidate should:

- 1.2.1 know that the Guernsey Law exists distinct from the EU GDPR
- 1.2.2 understand key differences between the Guernsey Law and the EU GDPR
- 1.2.3 understand why EU equivalency matters to Guernsey

1.3 – DATA PROTECTION IN BUSINESSES & ORGANISATIONS

The candidate should:

- 1.3.1 know that a Data Controller or Data Processor can be a legal or natural person
- 1.3.2 know that a Data Controller or Data Processor can be any type of organisation
- 1.3.3 understand the role that a board of directors (or other governing body) plays in setting the data protection culture of an organisation
- 1.3.4 understand the role that a board of directors (or other governing body) plays in setting appropriate policies for an organisation
- 1.3.5 understand that the policies of an organisation should drive the procedures and processes of the organisation
- 1.3.6 understand that there is a role for every individual in the organisation in respect of data protection

1.4 – DATA PROTECTION & RETENTION POLICIES

The candidate should:

- 1.4.1 understand the purpose of a data protection policy
- 1.4.2 know the standard contents of a data protection policy
- 1.4.3 understand the purpose of a data retention policy
- 1.4.4 understand that a data retention policy may need to take into account other laws and regulations
- 1.4.5 understand the role that an information security policy or a cyber security policy may play in data protection

ELEMENT 2 – IDENTIFICATION & USAGE OF PERSONAL DATA

2.1 – DEFINING PERSONAL DATA AND SPECIAL CATEGORY DATA

The candidate should:

- 2.1.1 know what personal data and special category data are
- 2.1.2 understand the differences when dealing with special category data

2.2 – IDENTIFYING WHERE PERSONAL DATA IS STORED

The candidate should:

- 2.2.1 know the various media and applications that can be used to store personal data
- 2.2.2 understand the vulnerabilities associated with hard copy data
- 2.2.3 understand the vulnerabilities associated with electronically stored data
- 2.2.4 understand the difficulties posed when individuals store data outside approved systems and databases

2.3 – ASCERTAINING WHAT PERSONAL DATA IS USED FOR

The candidate should:

- 2.3.1 know that all personal data collected should have legitimate use connected with the services an organisation provides to its clients/users
- 2.3.2 understand the processes an organisation should have in place to identify usage of personal data
- 2.3.3 know that data not being used for a specific purpose should not be held

2.4 – MAINTAINING & ACCESSING PERSONAL DATA

The candidate should:

- 2.4.1 understand that for data to be of use it should be accessible
- 2.4.2 understand that for data to remain up to date it should be maintained
- 2.4.3 understand that controls should be in place for access of data to ensure data is not accessed by someone not authorised
- 2.4.4 understand that controls should be in place for maintenance of data to ensure that it is not incorrectly amended

2.5 – PERFORMING A DATA AUDIT

The candidate should:

- 2.5.1 know what a data audit is
- 2.5.2 understand the role that a data audit plays in identifying data held and its uses
- 2.5.3 understand the role that a data audit plays in providing the board with appropriate information to set policies
- 2.5.4 understand the role that a data audit plays in identifying multiple instances of data and possible inconsistencies between those instances
- 2.5.5 understand the role data a data audit plays in identifying data held without purpose

2.6 – PERFORMING A PRIVACY IMPACT ASSESSMENT

The candidate should:

- 2.6.1 know what a Privacy Impact Assessment is
- 2.6.2 understand what factors should be taken into account for the Privacy Impact Assessment
- 2.6.3 understand how a Privacy Impact Assessment can inform an organisation about the risks involved in processing its data
- 2.6.4 understand the role that a Privacy Impact Assessment plays in providing the board with appropriate information to set policies
- 2.6.5 understand how a Privacy Impact Assessment can be used to reduce risks in processing data

2.7 – HIGH RISK SITUATIONS

The candidate should:

- 2.7.1 know that where a Privacy Impact Assessment identifies a high risk in processing data permission should be sought from the Data Protection Commissioner in respect of that processing
- 2.7.2 understand that where a Privacy Impact Assessment identifies a high risk in processing data the organisation should firstly seek to reduce the risk by putting appropriate controls in place

2.8 – MISUSE OF DATA

The candidate should:

- 2.8.1 know that data should be collected for specific purposes only
- 2.8.2 understand that misuse of data can be for apparently legitimate in the context of the organisation
- 2.8.3 understand that misuse of data can result from inadvertent or malicious action from within an organisation

2.9 – FINDING A BALANCE – KNOW YOUR CLIENT VS KNOWING TOO MUCH

The candidate should:

- 2.9.1 know that in some types of businesses there are reasons to hold personal data in order to establish the business relationship
- 2.9.2 understand that proportionality needs to be achieved in balancing the requirement to understand the nature of a business relationship and the identity of a customer against holding excessive amounts of data

ELEMENT 3 – IMPLEMENTING AFFIRMATIVE CONSENT

3.1 – AFFIRMATIVE CONSENT VS PASSIVE CONSENT

The candidate should:

- 3.1.1 know what is meant by affirmative consent
- 3.1.2 know what is meant by passive consent
- 3.1.3 understand the differences between affirmative consent and passive consent
- 3.1.4 know that under the revised data protection framework there is a requirement to move from passive consent to active consent
- 3.1.5 understand that consent may need to be re-obtained

3.2 – CHANGES TO FORMS – PHYSICAL AND ONLINE

The candidate should:

- 3.2.1 understand how active consent can be achieved using a physical form
- 3.2.2 understand how active consent can be achieved using an online form

3.3 – CONSENT FOR GIVEN PURPOSES

The candidate should:

- 3.3.1 know that consent must relate to given purposes in respect of the business relationship between the client and the organisation
- 3.3.2 know that where the business relationship requires additional purposes to processing of data that new consent must be obtained
- 3.3.3 understand that where consent has been obtained for specified purposes it cannot be assumed for other purposes

3.4 – CONSENT FOR MINORS

The candidate should:

- 3.4.1 know the age of minority under data protection legislation
- 3.4.2 know that consent in respect of a minor must be received from an adult responsible for that minor

3.5 – TERMS AND CONDITIONS; PRIVACY POLICY

The candidate should:

- 3.5.1 know what Terms and Conditions are
- 3.5.2 know what should be contained within Terms and Conditions for data protection purposes
- 3.5.3 know what a Privacy Policy is
- 3.5.4 know what should be contained within a Privacy Policy for data protection purposes

ELEMENT 4 – ENSURING THE RIGHTS OF THE DATA SUBJECT

4.1 – DEALING WITH SUBJECT ACCESS REQUESTS

The candidate should:

- 4.1.1 know what a Subject Access Request is
- 4.1.2 know what timeframes a Subject Access Request should be completed within
- 4.1.3 understand what should be done to comply with a Subject Access Request
- 4.1.4 know what data may be excluded from a Subject Access Request

4.2 – DEALING WITH DATA PORTABILITY

The candidate should:

- 4.2.1 understand what Data Portability is
- 4.2.2 know the parameters within which Data Portability operates
- 4.2.3 understand that the Data Audit can be used to assist with identifying data sources to be used for Data Portability

4.3 – DEALING WITH INCORRECT DATA

The candidate should:

- 4.3.1 understand that data integrity is important for the organisation
- 4.3.2 understand that incorrectly maintained data can result in a data breach
- 4.3.3 know that a data subject has the right to have their data rectified
- 4.3.4 understand that incorrectly maintained data can be classified as a data breach

4.4 - RIGHT TO ERASURE – A LIMITED RIGHT

The candidate should:

- 4.4.1 know that there is the Right to Erasure
- 4.4.2 understand the limitations to the Right to Erasure

4.5 – RIGHTS RESTRICTING PROCESSING & AUTOMATED DECISION MAKING

The candidate should:

- 4.5.1 know that a data subject has the right to restrict processing of their data
- 4.5.2 know that a data subject has the right not to have automated decision making processed on their data
- 4.5.3 understand what an organisation needs to do to comply with both of these rights

4.6 – RIGHT TO OBJECT

The candidate should:

- 4.6.1 know that a data subject has the right to object to their data being processed
- 4.6.2 understand that an organisation needs to do to comply with the Right to Object

4.7 – RESTRICTIONS TO RIGHTS

The candidate should:

- 4.7.1 know that there are restrictions to the rights of a data subject
- 4.7.2 know what the restrictions to the rights of a data subject are

ELEMENT 5 – DEALING WITH DATA PROTECTION BREACHES

5.1 – IDENTIFICATION OF A BREACH

The candidate should:

- 5.1.1 understand that a breach may occur some time before it is identified
- 5.1.2 understand that the point of identification of a breach is the base of the breach handling timeline
- 5.1.3 understand that an organisation may be expected to have reasonable measures in place to assist in identification of a breach
- 5.1.4 understand that some breaches may be identified by parties outside the organisation

5.2 – INTERNAL BREACH PROCESSES

The candidate should:

- 5.2.1 understand the importance in an organisation having clear processes for dealing with a breach
- 5.2.2 understand that a breach process should assign responsibility to individuals or teams within a business
- 5.2.3 understand that a breach can be used as a learning experience so that an organisation can put measures in place to mitigate future breaches

5.3 – REPORTING TO REGULATOR

The candidate should:

- 5.3.1 know that reporting of data protection breaches is mandatory
- 5.3.2 know the maximum timescale within which a breach must be reported
- 5.3.3 know the minimum information that must be provided to the regulator in the breach report
- 5.3.4 know that an individual should be identified as the contact point for the regulator
- 5.3.5 understand that breach reporting should be kept factual and to the relevant points only
- 5.3.6 know the sanctions that may be imposed

5.4 – REPORTING TO DATA SUBJECTS

The candidate should:

- 5.4.1 know that there are some circumstances where a data breach may need to be reported to the affected data subject
- 5.4.2 understand that this is an opportunity for the organisation to control the message and ensure that appropriate assurances are made
- 5.4.3 understand that data subjects will be reassured if additional measures are put in place to prevent recurrence

5.5 – DEALING WITH THE MEDIA

The candidate should:

- 5.5.1 understand that in some circumstances the media may be made aware of a data breach
- 5.5.2 understand that this can come from official sources or disgruntled clients
- 5.5.3 understand that the organisation needs to have a clear message prepared including details of any mitigating factors or controls put in place

ELEMENT 6 – ROLE OF THE DATA PROTECTION OFFICER (DPO)

6.1 – IS A DATA PROTECTION OFFICER NECESSARY

A candidate should:

- 6.1.1 know the circumstances in which a DPO is mandatory
- 6.1.2 understand that any organisation where a DPO is not mandatory may still choose to appoint one
- 6.1.3 understand why an organisation may not wish to appoint a DPO

6.2 – THE “DE FACTO” DATA PROTECTION OFFICER

A candidate should:

- 6.2.1 understand that if an individual is fulfilling the functions of the DPO they can be classified as a DPO without being formally allocated the title
- 6.2.2 understand that where the functions of a DPO are split between various individuals none of them can be individually identified as fulfilling the DPO function

6.2 – THE “DE FACTO” DATA PROTECTION OFFICER

A candidate should:

- 6.2.1 understand that if an individual is fulfilling the functions of the DPO they can be classified as a DPO without being formally allocated the title
- 6.2.2 understand that where the functions of a DPO are split between various individuals none of them can be individually identified as fulfilling the DPO function

6.3 – THE DPO – INDEPENDENT AND UNCONFLICTED

A candidate should:

- 6.3.1 know that whilst a DPO is within the structure of an organisation they may not receive instructions that contradict the nature or function of their role as DPO
- 6.3.2 know that whilst a DPO can fulfil other duties they must not have duties that conflict with their role as DPO
- 6.3.3 understand how conflicts can arise and how little scope there can be for other duties
- 6.3.4 understand that a DPO may have to undertake tasks in direct contravention to the wishes of the board of directors (or other governing body) of the organisation

6.4 – DUTIES OF THE DPO

A candidate should:

- 6.4.1 know the duties of a DPO
- 6.4.2 understand the responsibilities of the DPO
- 6.4.3 understand the requirement for a DPO to report to the regulator
- 6.4.4 understand that whilst undertaking duties can be assigned responsibility cannot
- 6.4.5 understand some of the areas where duties can be allocated to other inside or outside the organisation

ELEMENT 7 – INTERFACING WITH DATA PROTECTION REGULATORS

7.1 – OFFICE OF THE DATA PROTECTION COMMISSIONER (DPC)

The candidate should:

- 7.1.1 know that the Data Protection Commissioner is the regulator for Data Protection in Guernsey
- 7.1.2 know that the Office of the Data Protection Commissioner is an independent body
- 7.1.3 understand the role of the Data Protection Commissioner under the Law

7.2 – ORGANISATION & DPC – THE WORKING RELATIONSHIP

The candidate should:

- 7.2.1 know that the Law requires Organisations to communicate openly with the DPC
- 7.2.2 know the events that would require an Organisation to contact or report to the DPC
- 7.2.3 understand how an open working relationship with the regulator can be beneficial to an organisation

Specification last updated: Tuesday, 06 February 2018